Extended essay - Reflection and progress form

Student: This form is to be completed by you and your supervisor during the progress and completion of the extended essay. It records your progress through the extended essay process and includes your reflective statement addressing your extended essay experience. You must undertake three formal reflection sessions with your supervisor: The first formal reflection session should focus on your initial ideas and how you plan to undertake your research; the interim reflection session takes place once a significant amount of your research has been completed, and the final session will be in the form of a viva voce, once you have completed and handed in your extended essay. This document acts as a record in supporting the authenticity of your work. Following the viva voce, you write a reflective statement of no more than 500 words., which must be included on the RPF.

The completion of this form is a mandatory requirement of the extended essay. It must be submitted together with the completed essay. The reflective statement will then be assessed under Criterion E. Students and supervisors should be aware that a mark of 0 will be awarded by the examiner for criterion E if the RPF is blank or the reflective statement is written in a language other than that of the accompanying essay.

Supervisor: You must have three reflection sessions with each student, one early in the process, an interim meeting and then the final viva voce. Other check-in sessions are permitted but do not need to be recorded on this sheet. After each reflection session you must record the month that the reflection session took place, the student's year of DP study at that time and initial the form.

By submitting this student work for assessment, you are taking responsibility for its authenticity. No piece of student work should be uploaded/submitted to the e-Coursework system if its authenticity is in doubt.

(No more than 500 words, written in the same language as the accompanying extended essay)

I have a strong connection to both these two aspects because I am ADHD myself but have always loved listening to music and sometimes found it has helped me focus better and get a strong sense of enjoyment. I had a conversation with my mum about how when I was little, I would often go to concerts and often during those concerts it was time when I was much more relaxed and fidgeted less. This interested me and made me want to explore this area further.

The topic of music is a very broad subject as there are many different genres of music and you could even link playing an instrument to my topic. Narrowing it down so there aren't too many things to focus on in the essay was a challenge.

After finishing my essay, I feel as if the research I have done on this topic will have personal applications to help me understand my own ADHD better and learn more ways in which to focus and improve other symptoms of my ADHD. Initially, I struggled writing the discussion and critical thinking since my analytical skills weren't as developed as they could have been, however, the essay helped me further develop these skills so by the final draft I had carefully and critically analysed parts of the study that were positive and negative.

I am mostly happy with the planning and decision making, however, if I were to write it again, I feel as if I would attempt to find studies that used music from different cultures so I could further explore how cultural music impacts the symptoms of ADHD to gain a more globally inclusive conclusion to this question.
