Criterion:	Mark awarded:	Commentary: (Incorporating wording from the assessment criteria)
A: Framework for the essay [Maximum possible mark: 6]	5	The research question aligns well with the topic of investigation, maintaining clarity and focus appropriate to the essay's scope. While the research question is well-defined, the significance and purpose of the research are not thoroughly articulated, which may leave the reader questioning the overall relevance and impact of the study. The methods employed are appropriate for addressing the research question, with clear explanations. The structural conventions used in the essay effectively support the communication of research findings. However, the captions of some images are illegible, and the images themselves are of inadequate resolution, which detracts from the overall quality and comprehension of the artworks presented.
B: Knowledge and understanding [Maximum possible mark: 6]	5	The essay utilizes comprehensive and relevant research materials to effectively establish a solid foundation of knowledge on the subject matter. However, some aspects of the research, such as the discussion of Duchamp in the introduction, seem less pertinent as the essay does not effectively leverage this discussion to demonstrate a coherent understanding of the topic until the conclusion. Throughout the essay, relevant terminology is employed with accuracy and consistency, clearly demonstrating the author's understanding of the visual arts. Concepts integral to the Visual Arts are explained and generally used effectively, showcasing the students's grasp of the subject matter.
C: Analysis and line of argument [Maximum possible mark: 6]	5	The essay presents a consistent analysis that leads to relevant findings. There is a discernible line of argument connecting the research question, research findings, and conclusions. However, the coherence of this linkage is not always maintained throughout the essay. The essay could benefit from a more consistently integrated argument that tightly aligns the research question with the findings and the conclusions drawn.
D: Discussion and evaluation [Maximum possible mark: 8]	4	The essay provides a balanced discussion of the significance of its findings, supported by appropriate and relevant evidence. However, while analysis is present, the debate sometimes diverges from a focused evaluation of the influence of unconventional materials in the creation process of the works.

		Although the essay evaluates its effectiveness, it does not explicitly state the strengths and limitations of the analysis or findings.
E: Reflection [Maximum possible mark: 4]	3	The reflection on the extended essay learning experience primarily provides a descriptive overview, supplemented by specific examples. These examples offer insights into the student's journey, showcasing occasional evidence of personal growth and the transfer of learning across different contexts.

Holistic comment on the essay:	The essay presents a well-structured analysis with relevant findings, although the argument's consistency could be improved by maintaining a stronger focus on the influence of unconventional materials throughout the discussion. The initial research materials used are comprehensive and help establish a strong foundation, though certain topics, like Duchamp's discussion, could be more effectively integrated to reinforce the central argument. The terminology and concepts related to visual arts are applied accurately, demonstrating a sound understanding of the subject. However, the reflection on the essay's learning experience is mostly descriptive and could benefit from a more in-depth exploration of personal growth
